Description

The WaterUps® Sub-Irrigation Channel ('SIC') is a complete modular wicking system that contains waterproof reservoir chambers, which eliminate the need for pond liners. Each SIC channel will hold about 51 litres of water and only needs refilling about once a month on average. The SIC channels can be inter-connected to form long rows.

The SIC can be used to convert existing raised beds and planters into fully functioning wicking beds. The WaterUps® SIC also makes the installation of larger wicking systems very easy and cost effective.

You will need to purchase the Basic Kit plus the number of Extension Kits that you will need, based on the length of the channel required for your job.
